December LGBTQ History Program Highlights Printmaking for Social Justice

San Francisco — The program for December 2020 sponsored by the GLBT Historical Society will highlight everyday printmaking techniques that can be used to advance social justice. The event takes place online; registration is required for access to the streaming link. For more information, visit www.glbthistory.org.

Workshop

Printmaking for Queer Social Justice

Friday, December 11

6:00–7:30 p.m.

Online program

Admission: free; $5 suggested donation

Master printmaker Gabriela Martínez will lead a workshop on how printmaking can harness the power of visual language for social justice and activism. Participants will be introduced to the basics of printmaking using common, accessible materials. The workshop will begin by establishing a visual vocabulary using personally, politically and culturally relevant symbols and slogans based on the GLBT Historical Society's online exhibition Angela Davis: Outspoken. Because this event is a virtual, hands-on workshop featuring individual instruction, guidance and feedback, capacity is limited to 20 attendees. Upon registration, participants will be sent a recommended materials list, including household items and suggestions for affordable items that can be purchased. Additionally, participants will receive a recorded video introduction from Martínez. More information is available at <https://bit.ly/2TDp5TQ>. Registration is available at <https://bit.ly/2TDwbYd>.
